

I am learning to read by:

understanding directions and learning about left and right;

being able to isolate the visual information I need in a busy background;

having opportunities to act out ideas to understand them;

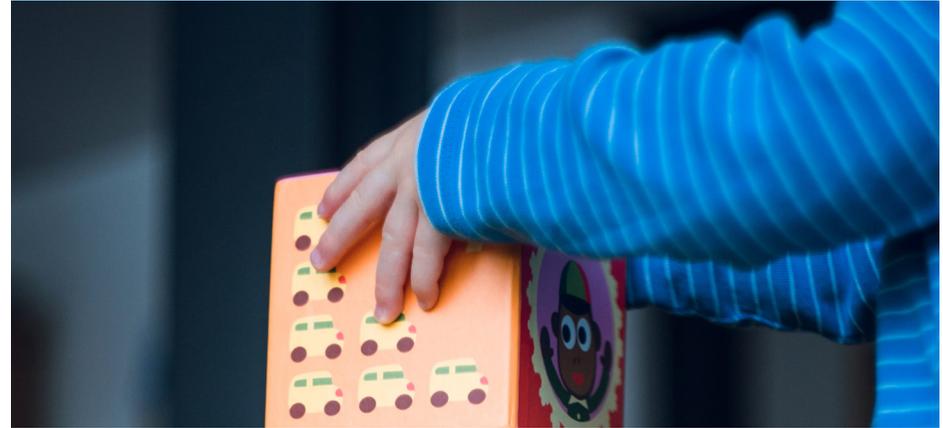

learning to move between busy and restful states.

I am learning to read by:

learning about rhythm, rhyme, words and sounds;

learning about sizes, shapes and sequencing;

learning parts can make up a whole;

learning to solve problems.

I am learning to read by:

learning to track with my eyes;

developing the small muscles in my hands;

practising concentration;

learning to use my imagination.
